

Rural Capacity Building Technical Assistance Request

Program Area: Federal

Funder: NALCAB

Supported by: HUD

Application Deadline: Ongoing requests for Technical Assistance are evaluated as they are received by NALCAB.

Open to eligible entities in eligible states

RFP Description:

NALCAB's Rural Capacity Building (RCB) program provides project-based, organizational technical assistance (TA), grants and loans to rural-serving organizations to build their capacity to carry out affordable housing and community development projects that benefit low- and moderate-income households in rural areas.

The primary purpose of this program is TA; loans and grants are considered on a case-by-case basis. Loan funds are considered through a separate application process contingent on available funding.

RCB TA is available to local governments, Native Tribal governments, housing development organizations, rural community development corporations (CDCs), and rural community housing development organizations (CHDOs) located in: Arizona, California, Colorado*, Florida, Idaho*, Indiana*, Iowa*, Minnesota*, New Mexico, North Carolina*, Ohio*, Oregon, Texas*, Washington, Puerto Rico. *Priority States

Period of available TA: January 2022-December 2022. TA engagements typically last between 3-12 months with a value of TA at $30,000 to $75,000.

Award Amount: TA only, Capacity building grant opportunities are identified as part of the TA application process. There is no guarantee of capacity building grants with TA assignments.

Questions about RFP should be submitted to rta@nalcab.org.
